The exact location is up to state police and will depend in a large measure, Zollar stated, on whether Grand Rapids creates a crime lab of its own. This would mean a state police laboratory for this region could be located closer to Benton Harbor.

The laboratory appropriation bill also includes funds to update existing crime labs at East Lansing and Warren, and to establish a new satellite laboratory for north central Michigan. The bill now awaits Governor Milliken's signature.

Girl Badly Burned In Heater Blast

Van Buren Home Explosion Scene

BLOOMINGDALE — The 15-year-old daughter of a rural Bloomingdale family was severely burned Tuesday evening when a propane gas-operated hot water heater exploded in her face.

A doctor told Mr. Ortel that his daughter was severely burned on 65 per cent of her body officers said. Her face and arms were burned.

Sgt. Robert Rouhonen of the state police fire marshal's office at Paw Paw said the exact cause of the explosion is not known yet.

Sgt. Rouhonen said that the girl was attempting to light the hot water heater. The explosion ripped open the hot water heater, damaged the furnace, and started a fire in the stairway.

Mattawan Firm Must Halt Water Pollution

PAW PAW — Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's office has secured a judgment in Van Buren County Circuit Court ordering the Glaser, Crandell Co. of Mattawan to construct pollution treatment facilities by Sept. 30.

In Lansing today, Atty. Gen. Kelley said brine wastes produced by the canning and processing of pickles had been causing severe water pollution problems in the Mattawan area.

The suit was filed by the State Water Resources Commission.

The decision, handed down by Circuit Court Judge David Anderson, Jr., requires the firm to: — Complete construction of the facilities by Sept. 30 and abide by plans agreed upon by the firm and chief engineer of the commission.

— Test the waste treatment facilities in accordance with procedures agreed upon by the commission and Glaser, Crandell.

— That not more than 250 parts per million of salt be added to ground or surface waters by the company.

— That waste water contained no substances which may become injurious to public health, welfare, commercial, industrial, domestic, agricultural, recreational, or other uses which are made of the underground or surface waters.

— And that monthly tests and results shall be submitted to the commission.

Late last week, Mattawan officials appealed to U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson for help in determining the status of requests for federal funds by the village for the construction of sewer and water systems in the village.

Hutchinson, during his Mattawan visit, was asked to taste a sample of the village water and agreed that salt could be tasted.

Nixon Acts To Avert Rail Crisis

Workers Told To Go Back Pending Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, acting after the industry threatened to stop the nation's trains if a union kept striking three key lines, has ordered railroad workers back to their jobs for 60 days while an emergency board seeks to settle a long-running dispute.

Just after the President moved to avert a national rail crisis Tuesday night by resorting to his final remedy under the Railway Labor Act, the Labor Department reported it was told the thousands of striking United Transportation Union members would go to work again as soon as possible.

The department said the National Railway Labor Conference, the industry group representing more than 125 railroads, rescinded its consideration of a lockout of employees and threat to shut down the system.

Called suddenly, the UTU called the strike suddenly Tuesday after charging the lines with refusing to bargain in good faith over the use of firemen on diesel engines.

Spot checks early today of areas served by the Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville and Southern Pacific railroads showed most pickets down within hours of Nixon's order.

Southern Pacific said a wildcat picket line marched today at the railroad's biggest yard at Roseville, Calif., in a local dispute but trains were delayed only slightly.

Nixon's decision came on the recommendation of the National Mediation Board and Secretary of Labor James W. Hodgson after

It's 'No Quorum Time' In Capital

Legislature Called To Order Only To Adjourn

LANSING (AP)—The legislature met Tuesday for the first time since its more than 14-hour session that wound up on the Fourth of July.

Tuesday's session took seconds.

No business was transacted. No lawmakers spoke. There wasn't a senator sitting in his assigned seat.

Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zollar, Benton Harbor, and Sen. James Gray, D-Warren, chatted at the rear of the chamber as Secretary Beryl Kenyon rapped the gavel once and said: "No quorum being present the Senate stands adjourned until Thursday next at 2 p.m."

In the House, the scene was similar. Rep. Lucille McCollough D-Dearborn, was sitting in a chair and several other representatives stood about the chamber as House Clerk T. Thomas Thatcher banged his gavel and adjourned the House until Friday at 10 a.m.

Other House members straggled in, for a total of some 20 of the 110 elected representatives.

The only action took place in the Senate where a television news man, Tom Greene of WJBK-TV, Detroit, argued with Kenyon over whether or not his crew could film the perfunctory session.

Kenyon cited Senate rules that stipulate no filming during session without the permission of the majority leader.

In Tuesday's case, Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan, R-Kentwood, was not immediately available to grant such permission.

The brief, formal sessions were held to conform to the State Constitution which provides that neither House shall adjourn for more than "two calendar days—interpreted as four session days—without the concurrence of the other."

Leaders failed to agree late Friday on a fall schedule, but came up instead with the session-every-few-days idea. They told members it would be necessary to show up for the sessions.

A full complement of lawmakers is expected on the floors Aug. 6.

Ministers Get Group Organized

Citizens Seek To Defeat Plan In Referendum

SOUTH HAVEN — Formal opposition to a proposed pari-mutuel race track in South Haven township took shape Tuesday evening with the formation of a citizen's group called CAGE. The initials stand for Citizens Against Gambling Extension.

The organization grew out of a meeting called by the South Haven Ministerial association, headed by the Rev. Herbert Nabb. He will also chairmen the CAGE group.

The Rev. Allen B. Rice II of Lansing spoke to the group on problems he predicted will develop if the race track becomes a reality.

VOTERS TO DECIDE

Whether the track should be allowed within South Haven township, is a question that will come before township voters in a referendum at the Aug. 4 primary. Construction of the track would require approval by the State Racing Commission following an affirmative vote by the township board, which apparently will be guided by outcome of the referendum.

The Rev. Mr. Rice is associate director of the Michigan Council on Alcohol Problems and Other Concerns, such as gambling. The meeting held at the First United Methodist Church, was sponsored by the South Haven Ministerial association.

Rice told the group "When gambling is introduced into any community people are told of the wonderful profits that will be made from horse racing. How the town will grow and blossom, bringing more jobs to the area. The people are not told, however, what gambling does to the homes in the track area, how children and adults alike are persuaded to part with their money; traffic problems, and new road work that may be needed.

The pari-mutuel horse race track would be located on 123 acres of land set almost in the middle of the township.

This section is bordered by I-196 on the west, the west property lines of land on 73rd street on the east, 12th avenue on the north, and 15th avenue on the south.

The board of directors listed in the articles of incorporation of the South Haven Racing Association Inc., includes Maxine Beebe and Paul Beebe Sr., both of Kalamazoo, and Abe Ashen, owner of Ashen's Steak House, north of Black River on North Shore drive.

Present at the meeting Tuesday night was attorney Ray Barrett, who appeared on behalf of the racing association at the June meeting of South Haven Township Board. Unanimous approval to putting the question of allowing the race track to be built in the township on the Aug. 4 primary ballot was given by the board at that meeting.

Most of the citizens attending last night's session opposed the proposed $2 million race track to be built here. Asked by Rice for his views on the new establishment, Barrett said "In addition to property taxes, the township would get three per cent of all the bets placed at the track. This is 15 per cent of the 20 per cent of the total bets the state gets. The total annual amount of revenue from a race track is limited to $500,000 by state law."

EVERY METHOD USED

The CAGE group last night pledged "every means possible to oppose the race track and to bring to the people of the South Haven area reasons why they

Lawyers Turn Indemnitors

Last week the State Bar of Michigan paid its first claim from a client security fund to a couple in the eastern side of the state whose lawyer had defrauded them of an accident compensation.

Three years ago the attorney, James P. Nichols, of Birmingham, settled an automobile case for his clients, Maxim and Bettye DeLosh, of Clawson. He cashed the insurance company's settlement check without their knowledge.

Two years later the fraud came to light and the State Bar arranged for Nichols' permanent disbarment from further practicing in Michigan.

A special committee administering the security fund subsequently approved disbursement of $4,600 to the Clawson couple. This is the net amount they should have received in 1967 after payment of attorney fees.

Currently the State Bar has another claim under investigation. Two others were rejected.

The State Bar is the officially designated professional society for some 11,000 lawyers in Michigan. They must be members in good standing to be able to practice.

The concept of lawyers being responsible for the misdeeds of brother attorneys originated 41 years ago in New Zealand.

The Vermont Bar Association was the first to introduce it to this country, doing so in 1928.

Presently 33 state associations, seven Canadian provincial groups, and similar associations in England, Scotland, Ireland and the Union of South Africa now furnish this financial indemnity.

The Michigan Bar joined the parade in 1966 with an initial appropriation of $10,000 from members' dues. This annual allotment went to $40,000 in the following year. These appropriations, together with interest on their investment, put the fund total above $192,000 at this time.

The fund is designed to cover an attorney's embezzlement of his client's property. The maximum payment is $15,000.

It does not compensate, however, for errors in judgment nor the failure to win the client's case.

A disciplinary action to suspend or disbar the lawyer is a necessary first step toward righting the financial wrongdoing.

A. Devere Ruessegger, this year's State Bar president and an active promoter for the fund, said of the Nichols chicanery:

"I can not call this first payment from the client security, or those to be made in the future, a source of satisfaction, for who can derive satisfaction from a reminder that one of our number has fallen from grace?"

The question answers itself and applies to any calling.

Drumming a culprit out of the ranks is reasonably safe insurance that he will not be able to continue his depredations.

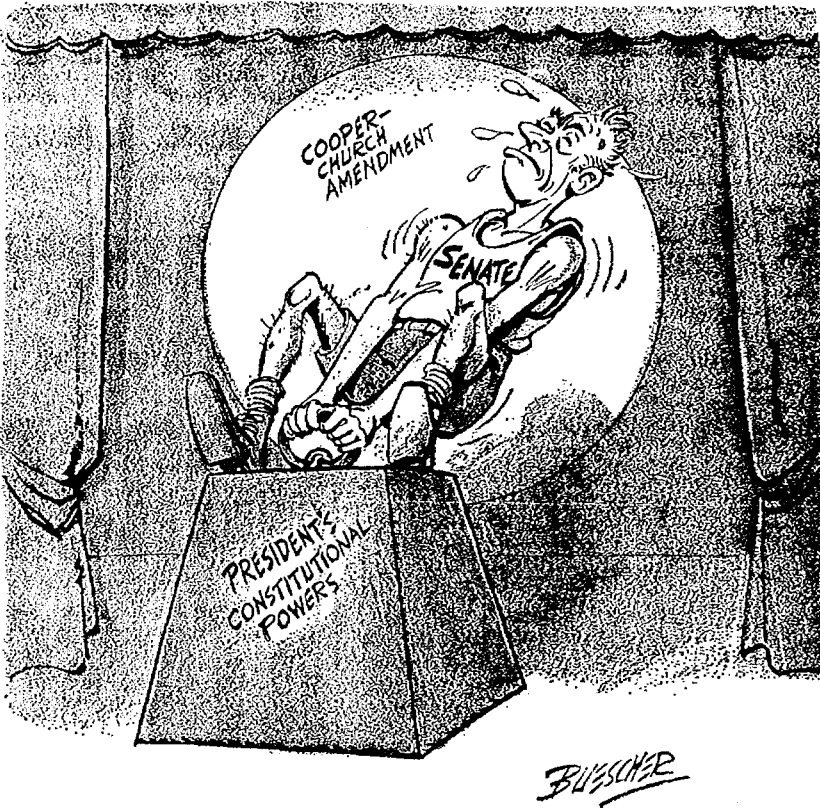

Experience shows, however, that the vast majority of embezzlers are bankrupt before events catch up with them.

Retiring them from the activity is a necessity, but this prospective action seldom brings about restitution for past misconduct.

Group assumption of liability for individual dereliction is a refreshing note in today's withering news.

Michigan's lawyers deserve a loud, long handclap for instituting this debt of honor.

BORN TODAY

The son of an itinerant peddler of medicines and horse trade, John D. Rockefeller, through habits of thrift and discipline, became one of the wealthiest men.

All his life, from earliest boyhood, he had contributed to various institutions, beginning with the Baptist Church, with which he was always connected; later directly to institutions.

Rockefeller was born on a farm in Tioga County, New York, in 1839. He received an ordinary country school education until he entered a business school in Strongsville, a suburb of Cleveland, Ohio. At the age of 18, he began the firm of Clark and Rockefeller to handle produce in carload lots.

In 1862, with the discovery of oil in western Pennsylvania, the firm invested in a refinery planned by Samuel Andrews near Cleveland. Clark dropped out in 1865 and Rockefeller bought out his interest.

The firm of Rockefeller and Andrews acquired a refinery built by William Rockefeller, a younger brother, and Henry M. Flagler. In 1870, under the leadership of John and after the partners had purchased or absorbed additional properties, the firm became incorporated as the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

The growing power of Standard gradually induced the majority of independent refiners in the country to become affiliated with the Standard Oil Trust created in 1882.

In 1892 the Supreme Court of Ohio declared the trust illegal. Rockefeller retired from active business in 1895, but retained the office of president until 1899.

Rockefeller died at Ormond Beach, Fla., on May 23, 1937. Others born today include David Lilienthal, Billy Eckstine, Steven Lawrence and Alec Waugh.

..And Speaking Of Your Health

Are tranquilizers dangerous if used over a long period of time? They help me a great deal when I am upset, but I worry because I have been taking them on and off for four years.

Dear Mrs. W.: The tranquilizing drugs can really be classed as wonder drugs. Most of these drugs are an outgrowth of a chemical, chlorpromazine which is derived from a root plant, rauwolfia. Originally this was used to lower blood pressure. Since its discovery, however, it has been modified and changed in many ways. Dr. Coleman

When taken to control anxiety, nervousness and irritability, tranquilizers accomplish their purpose well.

Unfortunately, these drugs have been taken to excess by many who falsely believe that tranquilizers can solve all their physical and emotional problems. This is a real danger.

In your case, the fact that you have taken them over a long period of time under the direction of a doctor reduces this danger. A small amount over such a long time does not indicate dependence, addiction or abuse.

The fact that you have not had any side effects during these years means that you are not allergic or sensitive and can probably continue to take the drug as prescribed by your doctor.

Tranquilizers, of course, can reduce reflexes and therefore should be used only sparingly while driving an automobile or using power tools. Combinations of any drugs should be used very carefully because their combined effects may be unpredictable. It is for this reason that alcohol, "pep" pills and tranquilizers used without moderation and in conjunction with each other can be dangerous and even fatal. For safety take drugs only as prescribed and for the time specified.

What is the cause and meaning of milk leg? This happened to me after I gave birth to my second child.

Dear Mrs. M.: I don't know the origin of the term milk leg and how it came to be used to describe a swelling of the foot, ankle or leg. Occasionally after surgery or the delivery of a child the deep veins of the leg may become inflamed. This is known as phlebitis. The inner lining of the veins may become irritated and form a clot that interferes with the free flow of blood.

When this happens, marked swelling of the leg may occur. Recovery time depends on the size of the affected veins. The condition is usually controlled with rest, medication and supporting hose.

Besides arteries and veins another system, known as the lymphatics plays a most important role in carrying nourishment in the form of lymph to various parts of the body. Blockage of this lymphatic system can cause the swelling you refer to as milk leg.

In recent years patients have been encouraged to get out of bed within 24 to 36 hours after surgery. This stimulates better circulation of the blood and has markedly reduced the number of cases of milk leg and phlebitis in post-operative patients.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH: Ice and ice water are excellent first aids to reduce the pain of simple household burns.

Opening lead—jack of clubs.

The Ethics Committee of Alcatraz was in solemn session. The chairman, having introduced the disputants (South and East) to the committee, stated that the facts had been agreed upon in advance and that all that remained for the committee to rule on was the conduct and ethics of the prisoners.

South had become declarer that afternoon at seven spades and West had led a club. South realized at once that the outcome depended solely on finding the queen of trumps, and so, in a stroke of unprecedented brilliance, he announced, before playing from dummy, that he had 100 honors. At the same time he eyed his opponents furtively in order to study their reaction to this amazing statement.

However, East was not far behind declarer in gamesmanship. He immediately reached for his pencil and gravely entered 100 points in the North-South column of the scoresheet.

This was all the information that South needed on how to play the trumps. Accordingly, at trick two, he led the king of spades and followed this with the jack. When West played low, South confidently finessed, since East could not possibly have the queen of spades and still credit South with 100 honors.

But when East produced the queen, South (who was serving a term for having sold the Brooklyn Bridge to three different people) immediately let out a loud squawk and accused East of cheating. East's only response to this outburst was to transfer the 100-point entry from the North-South column to his own.

Apparently the standard of conduct practiced at Alcatraz is very different from what it is in the outside world, for the Ethics Committee not only praised both players highly for their ingenuity, but also awarded them each a place on the Alcatraz team in the forthcoming match against the San Quentin Grifters.

Arthur Borden offers this tested recipe for success: "To a cupful of luck, add a pinch of conservatism, a dash of daring and several drops of vision. Then pour in an ounce of belief in one's fellow man, a spoonful of experience, and a generous jigger of good humor. Allow to settle with a sweet, helpful note of understanding, education, and intelligent compromise. Then bestir oneself without straining, add an icing of common sense and honesty — and serve one's God, one's country, and one's family."

Present Plan Dates To 1965

Board Votes To Hire Firm Of Consultants

Radical changes in Benton township has prompted the township board of trustees to ask planning consultants to update the 1965 basic zoning plan. The 1965 plan included no provision for Lake Michigan college, under construction on Napier avenue; the relocation of US-31, or the commercialization of M-139 and Napier avenue. The board last night voted to enter a contract with township planning consultants Harland Bartholomew & Associates to update the plans. Cost is not to exceed $6,500.

The contract will request study of four areas:

1. The area surrounding Lake Michigan college, which is presently zoned agricultural.
2. The triangle created by the relocation of US-31 south to Indiana state line. The triangle is that area bordered by the present I-94, Townline road and the new US-31.
3. The Fairplain Plaza area along Napier avenue and M-139, which has generated frequent requests for commercialization.
4. A total review of the basic plan.

The township planning consultants said the study could begin two weeks after the contract was negotiated and the study could be completed and finished within four months. A study of the LMC area is expected within two months.

OTHER MATTERS

In other business last night, the board:

- Approved licenses for 24 used car dealers, 6 junk dealers and 20 peddlers.
- Held a second hearing on the lighting of the Benton Heights area, without an objection being made. The lighting was approved and will be paid by a one-time fee of $6 per property owner.
- Held a second hearing on the paving of Greenley avenue to determine the time spread for payments. The time was set at five years for paving from Napier avenue to Pleasant Gardens at a total cost of $3,205.25.
- Appointed Trustee George Romeo to the housing commission and Supervisor Wilder to the state highway transportation study commission.
- Issued a special use permit to the Rev. Walter Vaughn to construct a church at 1484 Highland avenue at the recommendation of the planning commission.
- Agreed to assist Clare M. Musgrove, Berrien county extension director, locate wild hemp (marijuana) growing in the township.

CATV REQUEST

Tabled a request for a license to operate a Community Antenna Television (CATV) system. Aman Khan of 1328 South Manor drive, St. Joseph, who made request, made similar requests to three other municipalities Monday night.

• Approved a request of the Twin City Area Development corporation to exclude its property from assessment on the paving of Dewey avenue. The corporation has agreed to finance the $109,000 concrete road which will serve as a main artery to the Pipestone Industrial district. The township will assess other Dewey residents at a rate of $2.85 per frontage foot and turn the money over to the non-profit corporation. The township also pays an additional 40c.

• Accepted 1,500 feet of water main on Crystal avenue south of Empire avenue. Acceptance means the line has been completed, tested and sterilized. Supervisor Wilder also announced residents planning to hook up on the water line anywhere in the township should do it now and save $100 to $200. The rate is expected to increase that much soon, he said.

• Authorized the construction of a water main on Milton street and Napier avenue at a cost of $19,387.

Women's 'Lib' Loses Hold In Benton Twp.

Man Appointed As Planner

By HOWARD HOLMES
(Staff Writer)

For years, the Benton township planning commission has been noted for its cross section representation of the township populace.

It has had building contractors, insurance salesmen, farmers, doctors, school officials, businessmen, industrialists. Negroes and the second sex have also been represented.

But no more. The distasteful side was eliminated when Supervisor Ray A. Wilder appointed Earl Patterson, 29, of 808 High Point drive, last night. Patterson is a computer programmer at Whirlpool Corp.

Patterson is a graduate of Benton Harbor high school and has attended Lake Michigan college and a two-year school in computer programming at South Bend. Recently, he completed construction of his home on High Point drive.

Wilder commended him last night as an upcoming township resident, well qualified for the position.

HARD TO FORGET

But who can forget the pretty face and the smile of the woman commissioners? The rustle of a coat, the clicking of high heels — the hurried sounds of a woman arriving late.

Patterson's predecessor is Mrs. Janet Gordon, and Mrs. Gordon's was Mrs. Beverly Linn. The two women represented the female sex on the planning commission for a total of almost four years.

Mrs. Linn: What commissioner can forget the time she decided to change the order of the roll call? As secretary, she would always read out the commissioners' names for a voice vote.

VOTE SWITCHED

She always voted last, until one evening she found herself in a position where she had to cast a deciding vote to break a three-three tie on a controversial request.

Thereafter, she always voted first. Or Mrs. Gordon—the wife of a minister who was outspoken for the church and the Negro? It was Mrs. Gordon who backed down Millburg residents who complained a church in the neighborhood would create too much noise.

"What kind of noise can you make unto the Lord but joyful noise?" she asked.

Bendix Unit Given U.S. Contract

Will Operate Job Training Center In Detroit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A division of Bendix Corp. has been awarded a $2.3 million two-year federal contract to operate a job training center in Detroit designed to provide more than 275 youths from low-income families with vocational skills, Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich., announced Tuesday.

The Bendix Field Engineering Corp. will use the funds from the Labor Department's Manpower Administration to set up the Detroit Residential Manpower Center in existing facilities at the Fort Wayne Federal Reservation on the Detroit River.

Young people ranging in age from 16 to 21 who have left school and are unemployed will be recruited for the center by the Michigan Employment Security Commission and other city agencies. The youths must live in Oakland, Macomb or Wayne Counties.

6 MONTHS TO YEAR

About 200 young men will live at the center when it opens this fall, while about 75 young women will commute daily. The young persons will stay at the center from six months up to a year.

The young men will receive training in carpentry, masonry, metalworking skills, truck driving and fork-lift operations. The young women will learn skills in health and clerical fields. Part of every youth's training at the center will include some high school equivalency courses.

While enlisted in training programs at the center, the young persons will be provided with work clothing, street clothing and medical care. In addition they will receive $30 per month for personal necessities.

The youths will also have $50 set aside each month they remain at the center.

When they complete their training they will receive the total amount to provide them with a cushion when they begin job-hunting.

The center will be staffed by about 100 trained instructors.

Patrolman Assaulted; Teens Held

A Benton Harbor patrolman had his eye blackened and a button ripped off his shirt last night when he asked two bicyclists to stop so he could talk to them. Another officer was also assaulted.

Schadler radioed for assistance from Patrolman Roger Sliter when the two ignored his request. Sliter was struck and had to use chemical Mace to calm the two teenagers.

Police arrested Artis Johnson, 17, of 476 Colfax avenue, on charges of assaulting a police officer, resisting arrest and disorderly person.

His companion, a 16-year-old juvenile, was placed in jail and referred to juvenile court. He was charged with parole violation, curfew violation and disorderly person.

Two other city officers arrested Charles Lean, 25, of 112 East Britain avenue, Benton Harbor, early today on charges of fleeing a police officer, no operator's license and reckless driving. Arrest was made by Officers James Dotson and Willie Elliott.

Illegal Drug Purchase Is Charged

Benton township police arrested Louis Henry Stansberry, 21, of 685 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, yesterday on a charge of attempting to purchase narcotic drugs with a forged prescription.

Police said conspiracy charges may also be brought against four others who were with Stansberry when he was arrested. The four were released. Police have asked the Berrien prosecutor's office to study the conspiracy charge.

Stansberry was charged with presenting a forged prescription at Brown's Pharmacy, 2189 Red Arrow highway. Police said the prescription was for a cough syrup containing codeine, which is obtained from opium.

Police said Stansberry attempted to use a medical assistance authorization card. The card is issued by the state department of social services and provides free medical assistance to the holder.

Windows Broken, BH Store Looted

Three men smashed two 6 by 8 foot windows and grabbed three air conditioners out of the Patton Brothers store, 200 Empire avenue, early today, Benton Harbor police reported.

Police said the three escaped in a 1959 or 1960 Pontiac. The air conditioners were valued at a total of $540. Police said the men may have used baseball bats to smash the plate glass.

Break-ins were also reported yesterday at Lafayette school, the United Auto Workers building at 1575 Territorial road, and Berry's Auto sales, 1480 Territorial road, Benton township police reported. Little was reported taken.

ST. JOE TOWNSHIP Police Radar System Is Termed Necessary

St. Joseph township trustees have approved spending $1,180 to purchase a radar system for clocking cars after Trustee Edwin Brink showed 14 per cent of motorists checked exceeded the speed limits by 10 to 15 miles an hour.

Brink said the safety committee conducted the test in a marked car at four different spots and recorded the speeding. The unit will be purchased from Traffic Electronics Co., Inc. of Vanalia, Ohio.

A highway committee report approved a four-way stop for the corner of Ansley drive and Kim street. This is a shortcut between Lincoln and Niles avenue and the stop sign will attempt to reduce speed on Ansley.

Group Plans To March In Protest

A representative of an ad hoc committee last night asked the Benton township board of trustees for permission to parade down Fair avenue to protest "unlawful and discriminatory treatment of migrant workers."

John Powers, a University of Michigan law student from Traverse City, said the group wants to march July 18 from Fairplain Plaza to the City of Benton Harbor. The parade was estimated to attract 300 marchers.

Powers told the board he was representing Fidel Garcia, local coordinator, and Lupe Rocha, coordinator from South Bend. Neither was present when the request was made.

Supervisor Ray A. Wilder told Powers the board had no jurisdiction since M-139 is a state highway, and suggested the request be taken to the state police department. The township has no ordinance requiring a parade permit.

A written request, signed by Garcia and Rocha, said migrant workers were "receiving unlawful and discriminatory treatment at the hands of public agencies and private interests." "I always thought they had it pretty good," answered Township Treasurer Ralph Dahn.

NOBODY'S PUPPET, SAYS LENORE ROMNEY

Covert Twp.

Bell Co. In Road Work Delay

COVERT — Covert township Supervisor Jerry Sarno told the township board Tuesday at its regular meeting that official action is being contemplated to force the removal of telephone poles which now hold up road work in Covert.

Construction on 75th street is being delayed, he said, because so far Michigan Bell Telephone company has refused to remove telephone poles beside the road.

Sarno said that the Van Buren road commission is "contemplating court action."

On another subject, the board voted to disqualify a petition presented by Willie Goolsby asking permission to operate a parlor. The board ruled that the singers were not from the immediate area of the proposed business, and were therefore not qualified signers.

Goolsby said that rather than attempt to recirculate the petition again he would revise his business plans. He applied for a license to operate a grocery, pinball machine parlor and barbecue takeout. This was approved by the board.

POLICEMEN NAMED

Jim Loper and Calvin Jeffries were appointed as special police officers in Covert. They join Michael MacAllister and Glen Tyler on the special police force serving part time.

The following were appointed to serve as inspectors during the primary election: Mr. Duane Casty (chairman), Mrs. Margaret White, Mrs. Donald Quinn, Mrs. Andrew Lloyd, Mrs. Alfonso Gregory and the Rev. Mrs. Earl Grice.

Allegations are Ed Murphy, William Thompson, Mrs. Ernestine Kahn and Mrs. Harry Sarno.

Two changes in zoning ordinances were adopted at the recommendation of the zoning board. The changes dictate a minimum of 400 square feet for the area in all new homes and all house trailers. The new changes take effect in 30 days.

Four house trailer permits were issued. They went to: Jessie T. Neely of Watervliet; Mitchell Jackson, 32nd street, Coloma; James Edwards, route 3, Coloma; and Louise Foth, route 1, Covert.

Bills approved for payment totaled $6,949. Of this amount, $5,000 was authorized for payment to Henry Wiatrowski of South Haven as the first of three payments installments of a new store and bathhouse in Covert township park.

The building, which replaces a structure that had deteriorated beyond use, will be completed next year.

Close Migrant Center,
Keeler Board Urges

Called Health, Safety Hazard

KEELER — Keeler township board last night voted to recommend to the proper authorities that the migrant recreation center in Keeler be closed.

The board took the action after listening to complaints from Keeler residents who said operation of the center is a public health, safety, and fire hazard. Those present said the operation creates a traffic hazard, litter in the yards of residents, and there are no sanitary facilities in the building.

It was reported the state fire marshall from Paw Paw was here this week to inspect the building. The board members said they would first contact the Van Buren County Health Department to get the center closed.

The center is located in the former Woodman building. Supervisor John Gillespie said the center was originated by the Migrant Ministry, but he thought it was now being operated by some other group.

The center has been in operation for about four years, but this is the first year the problems have been so serious, the board said.

In other business, the board agreed to contact state officials to request a stop sign be erected on county road 687 at the intersection of M-152, and to request speed limit signs be erected on M-152 through the Sister Lakes shopping center.

The board voted to install two additional parallel parking signs near a Keeler tavern.

A request from township temporary constables for signs for their cars was approved by the board.

Dismisses
Charges
By HuberSenate Hopeful
Addresses 200
At Andrews U.By SANDRA ENGLE
(Staff Writer)

Mrs. Lenore Romney yesterday dismissed as "ridiculous" charges that her husband, Cabinet Secretary George Romney, would be the "defacto U. S. senator from Michigan" if his wife was elected.

Mrs. Romney denied the statement made Monday by State Sen. Robert Huber, R-Troy, her opponent for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

"I am a completely independent person dedicated to fighting for the principles I believe in. There will not be any conflict of interest because of my husband's ties with the administration. I've already refined my position on a few of President Nixon's programs," she said.

She spoke before an audience of nearly 200 people at Andrews university last night and earlier in the day held a press conference at the Holiday Inn in St. Joseph.

SLAP AT HUBER

Mrs. Romney, who will face Sen. Huber in the Republican primary on Aug. 4, said it "is tragic that some forces have to stoop to such charges," when she was questioned about Huber's statement.

"There are too many social and human problems that need to be solved and I intend to be a voice in helping find solutions," she said.

She outlined a variety of programs and problem areas she either supported or said needed reform. Included were reform in welfare and juvenile delinquency programs, agreement with Nixon's Cambodia and Vietnamese operations, support for supplies and jets to Israel and backing for the 18-year-old vote.

The rise in juvenile delinquency is due, in part, to our welfare that doesn't work, claims Mrs. Romney. "We've equated a man with a meal ticket. A man can't make enough to keep his family going so he leaves the home, the wife gets welfare checks and the children have no roots."

She said instead of spending billions of dollars on such poverty and welfare programs that haven't helped end hatred, that people should show more moral concern and care within their hearts and minds.

SUPPORTS PRESIDENT

Mrs. Romney endorsed President Nixon's plan to change the nation's welfare system.

She said "It would eliminate the ineffective existing program which is self-perpetuating and a contributor to broken homes."

Mrs. Romney blamed the Democratic-controlled 91st Congress for blocking Nixon's program.

She said that Nixon's program "gives incentive for poor people to work, provides for job training and contributes greatly to the stabilization of the nation's poor families."

She said its prime aim is to aid people escape the need for federal and state support.

"Ultimately, this would reduce government spending, increase tax revenues and employment."

VIEWS ON WAR

Mrs. Romney also backed President Nixon in his operations for ending the Vietnamese war, "as long as the troops are home by the end of 1971."

Saying we must, to some extent, listen to the youth of today, she told the audience that the nation's goals were "too materialistic, not humanistic," the past few years.

"Youth is reminding us, that in this day and age of social and human problems, that we've neglected parts of our society. We must listen, but they must be responsible in their dissent."

"I believe in peaceful dissent but discipline is also a part of our society. We have goals and standards to live by so youth can be free to live an abundant life without being held down by drugs."

Mrs. Romney, who criticized U. S. Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., the incumbent, for voting for every bill to escalate spending, also took a jab at fellow Republican, Vice President Spiro Agnew.

She said she didn't agree with his name calling. "Everyone

In a question and answer period following her speech, Mrs. Romney gave her support to supplies for Israel to "maintain the balance of power during their war"; said she would support the Supreme Court's decision on the 18-year-old vote and called for cuts in the space program and defense budgets.
